When Crimson quit Forces of Diversion, she changed FoD's irc address from irc.forcesofdiversion.com to chat.forcesofdiversion.com
To top it off she has taken our irc.forcesofdiversion.com and has set it to route any query to that address to irc.n00bstories.com

We at Forces of Diversion are demanding that she give us back our address to our irc network. She left FoD on not so pleasant terms, she feels she can hijack our irc address and create confusion with our members and friends. Crimson, you have nothing to do with FoD now, so you do not have the right to use our irc address to route people to your irc network.. Return our irc address and get it to route back to it's proper location... OURS i think you are blowing smoke out of your ass.

FIX IT NOW

i just checked who the owner of said adress is and its Crimson and as she is the owner of it she can do whatever she likes with it .

i think you should be happy that you still have been allowed to use it.

It would be nice of her to let FoD use the original thingy, but if she owns it then it's pretty much up to her.

Exactly. She has nothing to do with FoD. The name Forces of Diversion is foenixz's not hers. She has nothing to do with us and is using our name to route our members and friends to her network. She has also forced shut all channels that were remotely related to FoD. so when our members and friends that don't view the forums often think they were banned from our channels. Give it up or stop it from routing to your network.

I hate having to "choose sides" here but you're both wrong, and you're both right... This stupid bickering among friends makes me go "bleh whatever" and write replies like this.

1. She owns the domain. You do not. She can do with it what she will.
2. Even if she owns it, it's still pretty shitty to take it and switch it over to her network.
3. Posting topics like this to air dirty laundry in public is wrong. You know that.
4. This entire situation reeks of "eww I just stepped in horse shit" so I'm going to leave it at this.

You're both wrong, you're both right, find some way to solve the problem without being assholes to each other.

All I really know is that foenixz was being an asshole about it to Crimson, so she is probably giving him his "comeuppins" or whatever... I mean if you actually want to give all those botnet owning idiots IRCOp and protected status, watch out if one of your members talks shit, "wham, there goes [FoD]SomePerson offline."

Maybe his ISP can't take another hit. That's no reason to blame everything on her.

He didn't. There is no way that he would. What foenixz wanted was to set it so that only IRCops could kick them, not channel mods. Since that seemed to be a major problem.

[21] <Blazer> you are suggesting to give persons immunity who have attacked us

Hmmmm ... didn't want to get involved but I was nor have I ever been shitty to Crimson. I helped to support her in some bad times, but I got fed up of being attacked. I told her many times I have a clan to think of and they have to come first. I even overrided a vote by the other leaders on two occasions to not sever the link with her network. It seems that she has what she wants now and doesn't need FoD anymore. So be it.I don't really care where this ends up but the resolution will show what her priorites really are.

For the record, I never copyrighted the name forces of diversion Christine was kind enough to register the channel and domains in my absence. But it is strange of her to change the irc channel and point it to n00bstories.

FoD people I ask that you keep your responses to this thread moderate.

ACK I have the complete logs anytime you to see them there is more to it than those three lines.

I closed #FoD, and #fodsvr01 which are no longer based on the n00bstories network. The close message says where the channel was moved to.

I have repeatedly said that I was NOT leaving on bad terms, however you are taking it that way.

As I own the forcesofdiversion.com domain, it's within my power to control where the subdomains point to. Many people use the irc.forcesofdiversion.com domain to access the n00bstories network and channels like mine and The Pits. I have been sending globals to remind people not to use the forcesofdiversion.com domain any longer so that I can re-route it back to you.

It seems funny that you guys didn't want to give Dominion Guild control of their domain after you left them, but now when the shoe is on your foot, things are different.

I just took the route of least resistance in the split. As I have said MANY MANY TIMES, I completely understand your desire not to be attacked. You must remember that we are dealing with tiny infant children here and the only way to "save yourself" from being tainted with my problems is to sever your ties with me. Why do you think I obtained more links on my network? I knew you guys weren't going to put up with this much longer. I wasn't going to sit around and fight with people I like and respect over this. Especially when you started blaming all the problems on me instead of where the blame belongs.

I know why you didn't want to be linked anymore. I'm not arguing that. I had to do things the way I did because if I had done any of the steps in a different order, I wouldn't have been able to leave the clan's server in the best possible condition to do business alone before I left.

This was not an act of hostility. It was the path of least resistance.

Hey, why don't you relax a bit eh?

The "fuck them" was a quote hence the quote marks around it. I don't see how it's "self serving". I said numerous times that I didn't leave bitter or in anger. You had every right to want to protect your server. I wanted to protect it too. By changing irc.forcesofdiversion.com to point to my box, it would have stopped any attack against your box related to IRC. I was going to point it back in your direction in a couple days.

If I had wanted to be bitter and mean, I would have made <http://www.forcesofdiversion.com> point to my website, and I would have made your teamspeak url point to mine. But instead I didn't. I'm not saying I did you a favor. I was just trying to leave the server in the best condition I could to try and dissuade attacks and make sure you guys were operational in the future. Instead I get attacked like this. Bitterness and anger would be me uninstalling shit on your server and deleting vital information. Did I do that? Nope. I set up your IRCd and services to function independent of my network, and I deleted nothing.

I understand your wanting to delink. I thought it was appropriate too. I was ready for it. But assigning me ANY of the blame for the attacks against me was rude, immature, disrespectful, and downright ignorant. You as a member of law enforcement know that the victim is not at fault. 100% of the blame falls on the criminal's shoulders. There is nothing in this world I could have done to deserve federal laws broken against me. That's like saying the woman in the short shorts jogging in the park is to blame when she's raped.

I also find it interesting that even after I de-linked you made a couple last-ditch efforts for me to reverse my decision and talk about our difference of opinions in how to deal with script kiddies. Now you're all about "distancing yourself blah blah blah". Yeah, NOW you want to distance yourself.

If my "goddamn actions" are not allowing every lowlife script kiddie to connect to my servers and use the bandwidth I pay for, then I do accept responsibility. I am laying out more money per month than I ever intended to. I went from $20 per month for hosting my site to $255 per month because of these attacks.

Zerk, he's right. You don't know what you're talking about. I helped found the FoD clan and I was in charge of the internet services. I bought the domain for the clan, and I intend to point irc.fod to the clan's irc server after this transition period. That was always my intention.

I do not blame the FoD clan for not wanting to be associated with my server. It's not my fault that these immature children want to project their irrational and unjustified anger onto my friends instead of just taking it out on me, but they do, and if they wanted to delink, that's fine. All my actions in the last few days have been in my attempt to make a clean break from the clan and not turn everything into a public spectacle that it now is. I have no right or reason to be angry with the FoD Clan. What little anger I have is directed at foenixz for his unfounded accusations and assumptions as to the blame in the attacks I suffer.

[17:27] [@foenixz]: I don't need any of this

This will be the last responce. I am done on the Renforums and n00bstories (Like anyone cares). I do not recal us going "Crimson don't leave". I do recall you going in to a hissy because Boink and I said de-link.

We do not need protection by you. When we linked to n00bstories, we needed protection from you. Your comment that you are protecting us from attacks by routing irc.forcesofdiversion.com to you and changing ours to chat.forcesofdiversion.com is BS and doesn't make sence. We got attacked because of n00bstories not because we were FoD. Once people know the link got severed attacks on us would stop. So your reasons have no merit. Keep the name. Change the bot you have that bans people from FoD related channels on n00bstories from saying:

[11] (..mode..) ChanServ changes mode(s) to +Ob !@.
[11] (..ban..) ChanServ bans !@.
[11] (..join..) ChanServ (Services@n00bstories.com) [Internic Commercial] [11] (..kick..) ChanServ has kicked [FoD]K9Trooper{L} (This channel has been closed by the Network Administration. chat.forcesofdiversion.com)

Because it is not us that set it. It was n00bstories. Confuse people more with that.

Good day and goodbye

After they pissed off TD so much to the point of him quitting (obviously temporarily cuz it seems he always goes back :rolleyes:), they had some shit coming. I guess Crimson wouldn't play ball with Foe. Sad tho, seems like the leaders are coming out of the woodwork, cuz the whole time i was in [FoD] it was practically leaderless. Maybe that is why about 15 guys quit [FoD] .

YOU didn't say "Crimson don't leave" but foenixz did in fact post something towards trying to resolve our difference of opinions, but seeing as I don't have access to the leader forums anymore I can't pull it up. (I'm not saying I should have access, I shouldn't. I'm just saying I don't, and that's where the post is)

If delinking the server and leaving the clan is a "hissy fit" then I did in fact have one. However I don't share this opinion. I call it honoring your wishes. Had I stayed in the clan, you would have still been a target of attack, believe me.

The fact that you think my actions were BS just shows how little you know about these script kiddies. I don't expect you to know, but I have been fighting off their attacks for over 6 months. I know what I was doing.

I just found it interesting that you all wanted me to stop the attacks on your server. I stopped them in every way I could think of, and now you guys had to come into my forums and make a public spectacle of it. I tried to do this gracefully and with as little confusion as possible for all of our users (yours and mine), and instead you set out to make me look like an awful person. I'm not trying to lay blame on anyone. The only ones to blame for this whole mess are the damned script kiddies.

K9 and hareman are some of the highest caliber men I have met out here. I have played with, and against them, been in clans and have watched them moderate fairly, and equally. It takes a lot to distance them from someone they have been steadfastly loyal to, and have supported from the beginning.

I hope it was worth it, because you have lost my respect for you and your staff. This will be my last posting here. I have no one left here to talk to here, or debate with as an equal any longer.

Fuck you [FoD]ders

Isn't that wonderful.

As for the actual relevent posts in this topic I have one thing to say and one thing only. I am angered as to how all this was blown so way out of proportion. Crimson was a big help to us, yet some of my members seem to forget that.

In my opinion did some of you guys EVER think that perhaps she was infact trying to protect our interests by doing what she did?

Look, I like both foenixz and Crimson, but I wish not to get involved in between both of you, I find it insane how you guys were relatively close and now it's like you wish to not hear of each other. I don't understand that!

I have no comment on the details of this post, because I simply do not wish to give any, because I know that regardless of what I say, someone will get pissed off, and I don't want that happening. I just wish that this could have been solved more peacefully and not filled with anger and hatred. But I guess that was a long shot eh?

As for the one thing I was going to say, Crimson, I hope all goes well for you in what you do, I, myself, will miss you. You helped me a great deal with many things. For that I thank you.

Thank you td. I'm still around if you ever need a hand. I just left to protect you guys, it's true. I am angry at being accused of being to blame for the script kiddie attacks, but that's it. I believe that if someone is truly a friend, then you can disagree about something without ruining the friendship. Anyone who can just throw away a friendship over something that's actually minor in the scheme of things wasn't a good friend to begin with.

Just remember the plain and simple truths:

- 1) I am not angry with FoD. I did not wish or intend to leave on bad terms.
- 2) The irc subdomain now leads to the FoD irc server.
- 3) I never wished this to become such a large issue, especially since, according to foenixz, I never did anything for the clan anyway.

Now, I'm going to lock this topic unless someone PMs me wishing for it to be re-opened.
