What about something to show whether a server is offline or online without me needing to edit the page myself.

QStat has real time server status, but I haven't used it myself.

We used to use Renstat, it workes with PHP too. We had the server status and everything else such as players names, maps, scores etc. Was a great program when we had our clan.

Yeah, should be simple to do. As someone said, blueyonder games had a app that allowed you to launch servers from the web. Blueyonder used it's own url like bygames://

*EDIT renegade:// is for gamespy
