Has anyone ever thought of making something the complete opposite of cheats and then saying that they were cheats so that when the n00bs installed them they had a disadvantage? I just thought of making small heads, low damage, ETC but I don't know how so . . . How do I import .w3d files into Gmax then resize them? I already have the .w3d importer installed but when I go to file import I can't select .w3d as the file type to import. Also how would I modify the damages that vehicles and weapons and stuff do? All I know about that is I would have to do it in level edit then export as a mod package then extract the object file out of the mod package right? If I can do this I will release it when I have it done but right now I don't really know how to do any of it.

Make a "cheat" that when someone installs it it redirects all shortcuts to .exe's to a small program that displays a random one of the following: realistically made 'blue screen of death'; an error message saying something like 'Unable to load video drivers'; to the '[random dll name] has caused an error in [random dll name]', etc.

And when he opens renegade (by the exe),he will get a nice "small head" and no damage thingy

Yaa, that would be really funny and all, but the thing is I don't know how to resize the head .w3d files, and I don't know how to modify the damage and stuff, so if someone could tell me or send me a link to a tutorial or something that would be good. I will release it after I am done with it just so that you will know I am not doing this to make cheats.

Hmmm mabey we could get help to make some free domains that we could host just little sites on to host this thing it cant be a big site bcause no one will download it hmmm. Good idea though how baout make it were deletes there files infront of there eyes then flashes there BIOS then stops the Processer fan and 90 seconds later there P4 is meleted all over there mother board.....
GOOD IDEA

Quote:when someone installs it it redirects all shortcuts to .exe's to a small program

Expanding on Sir Phoenixx's idea:

Still redirect the shortcuts to a program, but when you load the program, it displays this error message:

"Renegade cannot load because .dsd directory cannot load. Please send your online account screenname and this error message to [e-mail address I will elaborate on] to fix this problem"

[Now, i am led to believe that Renegade has no .dsd directory...the plan relies on this]

So someone sets up a fake email account that people who downloaded the "cheat" send their error to. Now, the person with this email account checks it, and when they see someone send them that error message, send a notice or something to all the big game servers to ban that account. This would keep potential cheaters off servers, while avoiding hordes of incoherent angry people who got their computers melted.

Ok then, let's do this. . . If I can get the w3d importer to work I'll do the "Small Heads" if I can figure out how to modify damage and stuff I'll do the damage one and speed one to. Anyone know who I should contact about the w3d importer, and isn't there a w3d importer for 3DS Max 5? If so I have 3DS Max 5.

W3d importer for 3ds max 5? There is an old topic about it:

<http://www.renegadeforums.com/viewtopic.php?t=8346&sid=e76c48877d9432d430402a53fee00c61>

I suggest maybe dante to contact about the W3d importer.

Instead of giving people small heads, low damage, etc., I'd rather just have them banned. Then they won't be inclined to download that actually work. Besides, with small heads, it'll take them absolute tops 5 minutes to find out they got a bad mod...Then they start cheating with ones that work...And I don't like cheaters...

But what if cheaters and hackers DO slip around renguard which I highly doubt but would it be possibly to make some sort of high light cheat?

What I mean is make a sort of "alert" mod and say it is a cheat, and that cheat stands out to renguard, e.g. Renguard is a security camera in the corner of a 1.5 metre cubicle and saddam come's in with a blinding lantern on his head that the security camera can't resist to look at and maybe...how do you say.....call security.

In other words a mod that is called a cheat that renguard basically spots in about a second and the person who is using that mod is immediately kicked and even banned. Is that possible?

I'm sure you could make something work by pointing out people to RenGuard... - I think it's personally a better alternative than my own, because no one has to spend their time checking an e-mail account, and it still bans people.

Just registered a free domain But if we do make several small sites with fake cheats it will decrease the possibility to find the real cheats because they will show up in search engines as well with the other sites and maybe after visiting several sites downloading the cheats that don't work several times they will give up. . . <http://www.rencheat.tk> that the domain I registered I'm not gonna do anything more than that until we actually get something made.

Be sure to put keywords like "multiplayer cheats" and such throughout the site to increase the amount of times it will show up on search engines. To make it show up on Google, make maybe four sites with those keywords all through them and link them all together. This is because Google's search engine works by organizing sites in order by keywords and by how many links they have to other sites with the same keywords, or something similar to this. They had a whole article in The New Yorker about it, but I don't remember the exact thing...

I already did the keywords when I registered the domain. . . is the domain working for any of you because it isn't for me, could it just be because I just registered it? I already activated it as well. What if I were to make 10 identical sites and link them all to one another, register 10 free domains, register 10 free webhosts? Would google put up all ten, or just one since they would be exactly the same except 1 link on each?

I know this is a stupid question but what about those bots in the chat rooms of WOL? They always advertise cheats, aimbots and all sorts. How do you get those things? Because they would come in handy.

Well, Google would probably put at least one up, if I understand their system correctly...but Google often omits results highly similar and/or identical to ones it found...So make ten sites and it will only show one...But if you do make the site give it a snazzy layout and say things in big letters like

"SUPER CHEATS YOU WON'T FIND ANYWHERE ELSE"

"SHOW OTHER GAMERS WHO THE REAL n00b IS"

"THINK UP QUICK COMEBACKS TO MAKE FUN OF PEOPLE WHEN THEY SAY YOU'RE CHEATING"

"BECOME HERALDED IN THE COMMUNITY FOR BEING AN EXPERT PLAYER"

...and more excruciating lies..although maybe you should put in a comeback section. That wouldnt be too hard, just make a list of things like "Go eat a cellphone, n00b"

Ok, I know how to modify damage and stuff now, LOL I figure it out in just a few minutes in level edit, I was just too lazy to look before. I found how to edit damage, speed, cost, the distance you see stealth units at ETC. So should I do reduced damage, low speed, and reduced sight range for seeing stealth units and then make everything stealth so you can't see anything? Should I have all these be separate, then have one with all of these together? I already was messing around a tiny bit and edited a few things, but I just wanted your input on what specifically I should change. Should I also change vehicles? After I get these made I will be releasing them ok, don't worry I'll try and get something done today, this shouldn't take too long to do. Aprime, you said you could make a site layout . . . I could use that after I get these made if you want to make it, or if you're not too busy or something. <http://www.rencheat.tk>

I got an even more sinister Idea. Instead of big heads, make a HUGE invisible collision box around them for projectiles. It'll be like they have huge heads and bodys and they'll never see it or suspect a thing. MWAHAHAHAHHA Too sinister I imagine but I MWAHAHAHAHHA at is MWAHAHHAness

Yes, but you can't have it around just the character the cheater is. It would effect all character that were modified to have the huge collisions effect to have it, not just if you are them only you have it, if I set the nod soldier to have a huge collision all of the other nod soldiers including the one that the cheater is would have the huge collision effect. And then the next game suppose the cheater is on GDI, he will be able to hit all of the nod soldiers easily. . . so that wouldn't work out to well. But if you were to do the opposite like Laeubi told me in a PM, make the heads bigger but the collision smaler they will think they have big head, but they can't hit anything. THANK YOU LAEUBI

So, they shouldn't have downloaded the cheats in the first place. LOL I wouldn't know how to make it do anything to their com anyways. Maybe after I start taking computer programming next semester at school in about 4 weeks. . . and after I finish that class when school ends in mid June.

. . maybe then I will be able to do something to their computer, but until then I can't do anything except the opposite of cheats and making them get mad. I can't get the "head hacks" to work, but everything else is working fine soon I will release them. Soon meaning a day or two.

I have an idea. Instead of modifying the game how about we screw with windows. We make a program that eats bandwidth on a time curve. Longer they play... worse it gets. It could also put in a little interrupt in their mouse that either cuts the info every 1/4 second or adds a little random x movement to screw up their aim. Have it modify the registry by putting a tag to load it up (first it needs to copy itself to a safe directory) with windows.

I beleive that will discourage any cheater from ever downloading a cheat again. And in addition to several sites have several different kinds of cheats. Some people search for them by name not by the general topic

I say.....just keep it simple, all we need is cheats that give them the disadvantage instead of an advantage. eg small head, extra low health, can't harm buildings etc. I think that that messing with their computers isnt a good idea, making it crash and damaging it isnt a good idea.

How are we supposed to know if they are cheating if we dont know what kind of cheats there are?
im sure every server owner downloaded final renegade to see what kind of cheats there are so they know if someone is cheating or not.

but i like the idea.....

I know how to make the low damage cheat, edit the bones.ini so it does like 0.01 damage or 0 per bullet. But Vehicles is a whole different array, in the armor.ini files, which I have no idea about. But I do suggest asking dante for help, but I dunno if he'd be interested in it since it really hasn't got much of a strong purpose. But hey, I like it Teach those n00biez a leason. I saw a post once that lead to a site that had an "Aimbot Download", and when you loaded the page, singing funny faces popped up and started singing (You are an idiot!) Instead of Halelujah Imfao I couldnt get over it. Had speakers up full too, so it really scared the hell out of me :rolleyes:
