Put something in the middle.

Big empty space in the middle.

Dunno what you are making it for, but if it's a sig, you could put some matching text right across.

Otherwise, it looks quite neat.

Put them closer together with another character in the middle. Ideally a larger character, or the shadow of the "enemy" whatever it may be.

Its not really for sig. its just practice i want to be able to make sigs but im just not good enough yet...whenever i put something in the middle it just looks out of place people from the newgrounds.com forum made those but i have no idea what effects or what pictures to use to make something look as cool as those....

I want to be able to make sigs like these....

I say put another character in the middle slightly enlarged, shaded dark slightly, and slightly transparent. And make sure its behind the other two characters and not in front of them. You may also want to make the sword shine like the gun.

My 2 cents

It needs a Type R Sticker... Seriousuly though put some sort of electric Egg with Electricity around it... That'll fill the space real nice and look quite awesome proolly.

It could definately use something in the middle, like fire or a character of some sort, and maybe make a lens flare at the end of the sword like the gun. Maybe like this . . .

or maybe

Wow that looks good only problem is then its siding more toward the trigun side and less toward the kenshin side.

as for the lens flare i could get it to work for some reason all it was doing was making the sword brighter.

Hmm. . . ya, I didn't think of that when I got the picture, so maybe if you were to add two characters, one from Trigun and one From Kenshin, or one character from some other anime. . . OT: I haven't ever watched Kenshin, what is it about? I liked Trigun though pretty good, I watched it over the summer on cartoon network at 1 AM every night LOL.

Looks cool.

I think a of picture a winged dragon or some kind beast in the middle bearing down on them would look neat. If you look where the black is in the middle, that is where I would put the main body of a dragon and have its wings spread out extending to both sides.

Like that?

Ruroni Kenshin in an anime show about a wondering samuri who killed thousands of people in a war 10 years ago then vows never to kill again.

Its on at 11PM on cartoon network on Saturdays

It's Japanese, not Chinese. . . I don't like the dragon, it looks a little pixelated, I still think you should add a lens flare to the sword though. Other than that, good work. Maybe like he said, add some text or something.

Close. Some sort of green wouldn't "clash" with the blue like the orange does, but yes I like that.
