
Subject: hotmail question

Posted by zerk on Fri, 09 Jan 2004 21:08:21 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Somehow my email accounts for hotmail are getting all F"d up and nothing is working. Once I push send, it says it is Opening some long page address but then it doesnt do anything so no email gets sent. Any ideas as to why?

Subject: hotmail question

Posted by NHJ BV on Fri, 09 Jan 2004 22:15:09 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

No

Subject: hotmail question

Posted by DaveGMM on Fri, 09 Jan 2004 23:21:17 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

No.

Subject: hotmail question

Posted by Nightma12 on Sat, 10 Jan 2004 00:09:56 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

No

Subject: hotmail question

Posted by longbow on Sat, 10 Jan 2004 00:29:10 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Actually I do, don't use god dam hotmail!

Subject: hotmail question

Posted by SuperFlyingEngi on Sat, 10 Jan 2004 00:44:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Quote:Actually I do, don't use god dam hotmail!

Yes

Subject: hotmail question

Posted by spreegem on Sat, 10 Jan 2004 00:51:40 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I use hotmail let's see when I . . . register for free webhosting and so I can use MSN messenger. I have never had problems with hotmail, but then again all I do is activate the webhosting accounts through the link in the e-mail I get.

Subject: hotmail question

Posted by Yano on Sat, 10 Jan 2004 01:52:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Sounds like ethier firewall or internet settings

Subject: hotmail question

Posted by zerk on Sat, 10 Jan 2004 03:07:44 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

YanoSounds like ethier firewall or internet settings

Firewall is not up and I don't know what internet settings though :/ I don't believe I changed anything. My annoying child brother could have.

Subject: hotmail question

Posted by SuperFlyingEngi on Sat, 10 Jan 2004 03:13:40 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well, that is most likely the problem.

Subject: hotmail question

Posted by zerk on Sat, 10 Jan 2004 03:24:17 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

SuperFlyingEngiWell, that is most likely the problem.

Yes, but this is very broad, I need some depper info that this.

Subject: hotmail question

Posted by Yano on Sat, 10 Jan 2004 03:43:26 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

What browser are you using?

Subject: hotmail question
Posted by zerk on Sat, 10 Jan 2004 04:02:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

YanoWhat browser are you using?

Internet explorer.

It worked at on epoint in time, but for a while now it just stopped.

Subject: hotmail question
Posted by Yano on Sat, 10 Jan 2004 04:06:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Try
Tools->Internet Options...->Security->Default Level

Subject: hotmail question
Posted by zerk on Sat, 10 Jan 2004 06:17:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

YanoTry
Tools->Internet Options...->Security->Default Level

I had it at that, meduim, and that was no use. Then i trid as low as i could go.

I dunno wtf is wrong.

Subject: hotmail question
Posted by Cpo64 on Sat, 10 Jan 2004 08:08:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

OT:Whats wrong with Hotmail?

Subject: hotmail question
Posted by NHJ BV on Sat, 10 Jan 2004 09:26:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Cpo64OT:Whats wrong with Hotmail?

It deletes (or at least locks up) your account if you don't visit it at least once a month. Since I only use it for Trillian and sometimes spam I hardly visit it. Ofcourse you can use MSN/Trillian without your Hotmailaccount actually being active, but it's still a bit annoying.

Subject: hotmail question

Posted by Falconxl on Sat, 10 Jan 2004 10:15:07 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

/me uses Trillian to access MSN account which is not linked to a hotmail email account.

I dont have a hotmail account nor do I intend to get one.
