No thanks, I don't need a sig. But I was bored, and because of your generosity, I decided to make one you might want to use. Feel free to do whatever you want with it.

I don't have a request, but I have noticed on some forums there are areas specifically for signatures, avatars ETC maybe this could be put into a special forum such as that here and then even more people can set up their own "forum businesses" if you want to call them that, where people make signatures, avatars ETC I have seen this done before on several forums and in all "forum businesses" there are people asking for stuff. I have my own "forum business" set up on some forums and have gotten a few requests, of course the people haven't PM'd me like I asked them to for more details . . . Maybe you will get some requests . . . maybe you won't . . . I hope you do though GOOD LUCK

My clan could use you. We used to have one in my old clan, but after we split off, he stayed with them.

As of RIGHT NOW, the stupid attachments are down because of a hosting switch, however we can setup a subdomain for your private/public use of anywhere. We currently have a forum for such things, and if you agree and perform as you say you can, mod status can be granted to you.

Trust me, You will get requests here
