It's over, and unfortunately I just heard about it. It still contains some of the top jokes, overall and per country.

They would be better in a film than in text!

Am I the only one who doesn't find any of those jokes funny?

I thought the "number one" joke was stupid. Most of the rest of them, too, but not all.

They're ok, though not laugh out loud funny. More like a very small "heh", in the mind.

The fact is that they've all circled the internet 500 times, thus the good ones aren't funny because you've heard them before, and the ones you haven't heard are just stupid (Which is probably why you haven't heard them.)

I probably laughed when I heard this the first time:

Quote:Two weasels are sitting on a bar stool. One starts to insult the other one. He screams, "I slept with your mother!" The bar gets quiet as everyone listens to see what the other weasel will drunk."

Although I don't remember them being weasels. Why weasels anyway? It has no bearing on the joke, and is just misleading. Instead of laughing at the end, you think, "...Wait, why the weasels?"

Yah, after researching the "best" jokes for over a year, you'd think the number one joke would actually make me laugh....

Or maybe these scientists measure how "funny" a joke is by seeing how turned on that section of the brain gets when someone hears it.

They discovered the "best" joke by huaving the website up, letting people vote on it. Look around the website a bit, it does explain it.
