Although Brenbot is running perfectly and creates hundreds of perfect gamestats html files, I cannot access them via index.htm. This file is completely empty, so I dont know how to present the stats on our website.

I would like to do it like that: <http://tefon.oneshell.de/brenbot/index.html>

Or is the live stats feature just working on Linux? I got the Win version of BrenBot. Thank you, Uberfahr

Should be working on win32 too. But I think we forgot to pack the index mainpage template with it.

http://www.brenbot.com/html_templates.zip

Download that, extract that to /brenbot/html so you have this file:
/brenbot/html/templates/index.html

You can edit that file to alter the design of the main page. Look at the html template source code to see how it inserts dynamic data. You can link /html/index.html then to a webserver. If you do, please link & give credit to brenbot.com

I think this is very poorly documented.. Sorry Need todo it for the next major release.

Vielen Dank, Mac

However, the zip file seems to be empty. Would you please update your upload? Thanks, Uberfahr
