I get the idea that renguard will support invididual player rankings, can it or will it support any clan features, if it did, alot more clans will come back and more will form, to be able to compete with clan and especially warrior rankings.

I think you're talking about the ladder being run by Blackhand Studios with Dante's software. I don't see why not, it's an important piece of Renegade and with this setup, we'll be able to run a clan ladder using more elaborate and accurate formulas.

Yes, nice one crimson, a good supposting tool for clan games will be damn excellent, bring back the best players and get them to compete in a cheat free envoroment.

This will actually make me change my views completly about Renguard.
