So flame me, call me an asshole cause you disagree with my free opinion, but every time i read some of this stupid BR Bot spam messages that say "Renguard comming soon" or "Renguard soon" is even part of a servers name i start to ask myself if thats a fairy tale or a bad joke. Why is it so hard to give an easy and clear statement about the current status of your project ?

It's not a fairy tale. There are about 6 RenGuard enabled Servers online. Progress is slow because many people have real lifes. At the moment, I have much more important stuff todo then RenGuard. That's just how it is.

Update is coming as soon as there is something important to report.

All the n00bservers run a renguard enabled brenbot version. However, you need the client to see it in action.

On occasion, you might see developers getting kicked for cheating by RenGuard when testing the network.
