I'm making a Renegade Advanced Strategy guide, and including a Ren Slang Term Dictionary. Check if I've missed any:

AGT, Aimbot, AOW, Art, Bar, BH (bighead), Hottie, Inc (incoming), Mam[my], Med, Ob[by], PIC, PP, Rave, RP, SBH, Stank, Strip, Tech, WF.

LT (light Tank), Flamer (flame tank), Harv(y), [br], Sak (Sakura).
Maybe you can use these.

A "sak" resembles a "sack" more... And Hotwire is only one letter longer than "hottie" and makes you sound like less of a retard when you use it.

Tanks are easily recognized by abbreviating them.

E.g, Flame Tank becomes FTank, Stealth Tank becomes STank, not "stank" which is ghetto for "smells" otherwise used in a sentence: "BOY YOU BE STANK!"

MTank for Medium Tank, MMTank for Mammoth Tank, etc... I really doubt there's much of a need for the commonly used acronyms and abbreviations, but the weirder ones might need explanation.

Ok I have had enough of the Nod verses NOD posts, I can't let this one go.

If you are in game you have to use the shift key to type STank, you don't if you type stank.

Hence all in game abbreviations are lower case.

Here's one:

1 4M T3H L33T!

Translation: Secret code phrase hinting that the player who submitted the message is highly not smart. [Note: Aforementioned player is not necessarily not smart if he/she was using said phrase with high regards to sarcasm.]

GTA (in kick messages for tank thieves) mobart

mrls (sometimes I just say "mrl" in real life)
wf
bar
ref
pp nuke/ion
APC

Some are reruns, but those are the ones I use the most.

Sorry, ACK, but if I'm in the middle of the field and I see something that the team needs to know about, I'm not going to watch the shift key and I will use "hottie" instead of "hotwire".

Dejavu

AircraftkillerDon't forget, most of that stuff can be typed within a second or two at the most...
Negating the need for shortened versions of all but the longest names.

Let's see:

OMG stank rush inc defend AGT

Oh my god Stealth tank rush incoming, defend the Advanced (this is the point where you get run over by a stealth tank and can't send the message) Guard Tower.

ok... it may be a little far fetched but you see the point.

With non-noob players:

4 stanks inc

Should be enough information.

You mean you look down when you're typing? Maybe I'm in the minority but I watch the screen when I type and my fingers are placed "properly" on the keyboard so I can type as fast as possible without resorting to "omg stank rsh inc omg omg inc inc omg"

I have to keep my last finger on the shift key, anyway, because that's what I have mapped for crouching and lowering altitude.

$5 says I can type "STank" faster than you can type "stank."

Oh please. Don't turn this into an argument....rolls eyes

Wierdo: I'll use LT. The others are obvious

CPO: Thanks, might use HoN. Ref is way to obvious.

Laser: I see your point. I'm removing it.

General Havoc: Most of those are obvious. Some I wouldn't put anyways. This isn't a "Renegade for dummies" FAQ. It's an advanced strategy guide. All that the slang dictionary is for is so when people start out online they don't have to ask what all of the unobvious ones are. I assume that the reader actually has a brain...

j4S[p]: Never heard that one. I play a lot, too, so I'm not gonna put it, but thanks for the info.

Umbral_DelaFlare: IMO, that fits as much as Aimbot.

Of course I don't look at the keyboard... haven't since 8th grade. Maybe I should have used the word "mind"... then you'd understand... or maybe "pay attention to my fucking usage of".
