Sometimes they'll say something about having sex, at which point you'll preform a move known as "logging off."

Most role play servers are just people walking around, "talking" to each other, with someone running in with Final Ren and kills everyone, etc

Real realy supid.

Yes, theres alot of ppl who do that on Neverwinter Nights, there was this one server where alot of Little Kids and Lesbians hung out, but there characters were really good. it was a VERY strange server.

Or you can just enter, buy a nuke, go to beacon pedestal and plant it. They won't want to kill off the characters so they won't shoot.

What the point of roleplay is in an FPS, I can't figure out...there's plenty of RPGs out there they could play and get many more gameplay options from, yet they choose to play an FPS where the only two ways of interacting with anything are to shoot it or "use" it, the latter being limited to entering vehicles, using PTs, and climbing ladders. Renegade would have to be just about the worst choice for a game to RP in...

Wrong: Counter-Strike is the worst possible game to roleplay in. Renegade runs a close second though.

Why is counter strike the worst possible game role-play in? The only differences between renegade and counter-strike is that Renegade has vehicles, bases, worse net code, bigger differences between weapons, and wider selection of characters.
