I cant say this is not a april fools joke, because it uses units that were made a long time ago and I didnt get a chance to look real well but. THIS ROCKS!

And from what it looks like, it will be made using same stuff that we already use, So we are going to have such a great time with this.

These are very convincing, but I'm afraid you've been fooled. This is an April 1st joke, damn good one too.

The shots are all nice, but all forgeries, look at the radar screens for example, nearly all of them are the same.

I would believe it if it wasn't posted on April the 1st. All seems a bit too much of a co-incidence that it happens to be April the 1st and that this is the only site reporting it's findings. I read some of it and it just seems like a made up artice. Some people will believe it though

Um, hate to break it to you, but those are not faked -- that's the Marin Heights map that I was talking about.

Looks like they're finishing the game. No one else I know of had access to that map which Eric did.

Okay then, but it is still very well done. Could you explain in more detail?

One of the screenshots shows the Golden Gate Bridge behind the Soviet tanks.

I told you, Marin Heights is in San Fransisco - that's where this map is based.

ok, so if that's true, how come the radar images are all the same?

These pics have been doctored...

I don't know why the radar images are all the same.

I just know that's the Marin Heights map.

Aircraftkiller! I don't know why the radar images are all the same.

I just know that's the Marin Heights map.

Maybe it is a scrolling radar that moves so you can select a certain part of the map to view and it stays there...

If so would explain why it stayed there.

Minimap veiw is different. Did you concider that all the ones that are the same are in the same area?

See:

<http://www.communityteam.de/ren2/ScreenShot07.jpg>

<http://www.communityteam.de/ren2/ScreenShot11.jpg>

And I "know" it is not a hoax. There are a lot of things about this that prove that it isnt.

But that dont mean that they are still working on it is the joke.

I want this, looks very cool.

Whatever it is, I hope it'll eventually be released, but I've never seen the building models before so who knows. Also look at the light on the ground from the prism tank's gun.

afaik this can't be done in Renegade 1, can it??

It can with just a few tweaks to the engine. Tweaks isn't really the right word, since the engine is capable of much more than its doing for Renegade. More like unlimiting things like draw distance etc.

If you dont know german, copy this link:

<http://www.communityteam.de/>

and go to this URL:

<http://babelfish.altavista.com/>

Then paste it in the website translator area, select german to english and go.

Stupid germans got our hopes up for Renegade 2....

I knew it was probably a joke,

I wonder if they'll ever release that, of course we (the community) already have some of what was going to be in Renegade 2 from modart.zip. We could essentially recreate Renegade 2.
