I was reading a n00b story recently, and it said someone was a n00b because they broke the rules by "walking backwards into a obelisk". What does this mean?

no obby walking is when you can walk backwards to the oblisk and it wont shoot you at all..unless you turn around but n00bs and other idoits say when you run with a mobuis to the obby and GET shot your obby walking....gay people

Is there a way to fight this... can you guys give some hints when/where these cheaters go do the "obly walk"? It would be useful for other people, like me, when mining the base.

I was probably one of the first to suggest such a tactic, but only because I didn't think it'd actually work. :rolleyes: It never did for me.

Where does these A-hole come from, in a map, to do the "obly walk"? So they can be stopped before they get there.
