The small one isn't the right texture for the Nod harvy.
It should be the same size as the first.

I'm sure it is. Why don't you go ahead and post your own picture?

You do realize it's against the law to post pictures of others without their consent, or editing photographs of them?

While you may find it funny that I have the balls to post my picture, I find it a bit more humorous that your sorry ass can only pretend to laugh while sitting behind that computer.

Post your own or shut the fuck up.

That's great and all. I still don't see the point of insulting someone based on their appearance.

I prefer longer hair. I can't stand having short hair anymore because it doesn't fit my body or my head.

And it's not a mullet. Look up some 80s hair bands, those are mullets. Mine is simply brushed back in that picture. Normally it either falls around my face or is kept in a ponytail.

You look like someone I used to know.

I only insult people based on intelligence, actions, or a few other factors.

Appearance is rarely one of them.

First, I'm glad you enjoy my handywork. Second, I don't see how its "poor" use of Photoshop--Its a picture of you, with the text "No."-- I don't see how much variation you can really add to it. If anything, I did you a favor by blacking out the pig sty of a room you can see in the background.

I hear you. I have no right to post images of you that you posted yourself. Don't worry though! Your privacy will be kept! Here's the modified version (no one will have a clue as to who it is!):
