Is there anyway to get the word about renguard out to people that dont play renegade?

Maybe Renguard can bring people back to renegade that use to play. Or maybe even bring some new people to renegade...

Maybe do something with GameSpot.com or something...

I dunno...just an idea...

I plan to send a mass email to subscribers of these forums when it's released, as I stated on the RenGuard website. I also have several fan site contacts who will post the news as well.

yes if you are able to get a message of the day to work, with EA's permission, you could put it there. or even just have a message going in the n00bstories servers, so who ever plays inthere, will read the messages.

but yeah. it needs to go up on planet C&C, so them a few people will see it.

I have been advertising on my server for months now. Everyone who plays fair seems to be very interested.

ill be sure to tell the "masses" down at cnc ammo.

if you talk to the right people, you may be able to get gamespy arcade to help spread the word.
