Not only that, but first they vandalize the statue of Liberty replica and the 9/11 plaque...and now they vandalize a cemetery which has the bodies of soldiers who helped save their asses from the Germans!. Fucking idiots!

I never used to have any sort of feelings one way or another about the French, but their attitudes and actions as of late is definitely lowering my respect for them.

Quote:

a second poll, in Le Monde, showing that only a third of the French felt that they were on the same

Eleven thousand Allied soldiers lie buried in well-tended peace at Etaples, on the Channel coast near Le Touquet, victims of the struggle by Anglo-Saxons to liberate the French from the German invaders during the First World War.

Quote: The showpiece cenotaph at the graveyard in Northern France was smeared in red paint

i would just love for there to be official government statements in support of these actions. the second that happens, we should break all ties with france including rewriting un charter kicking them off sec council, rewriting nato without france, change the trade status to that of a less desirable nation etc.

currently we import approx 12 bn in french products while they import approx 9 bn in us products.

seems to me they lose 3 bn more under a ban.

edit: used the wrong spelling of there/their sure glad ack doesn't stop by here

Last week the obelisk raised in their memory was defiled by red-painted insults such as "Rosbeefs go home"; "May Saddam prevail and spill your blood"; and, in a reference to the long-dead casualties beneath the manicured turf, "They are soiling our land".

This makes me sick! One of my great grandfathers is buried there! I want him home. His blood was spilled in vain. FUCK FRANCE!!!!!!

Hey I hear ya. I cannot imagine what kind of fucktards would defile the graves of the very people that died for them. Fucking idiots. It was probably some kids who don't even know their own countries history, and just wanted to vandalize something they think symbolizes america/britain. I really, really hope that's what it is...I don't want to assume that "the french" as a collective people are that callous and stupid.

I find this statement ironic:

"President Chirac's spokesman said: "We are indignant and shocked by the desecration of the graves of soldiers who fought for our liberty." Jean-Pierre Raffarin, the Prime Minister, said: "The Americans are not the enemy; just because we are against this war, it does not mean that we want the victory of dictatorship over democracy.""

THEN DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT!!! Dictators don't go away on their own.

WHOA!!! Calm down!!! I am just as outraged as you about this whole ordeal. BUT...hoping that they fall to the next country...that's just like what they're doing to us. So what you're saying that what they're doing is wrong, but you'll do it also if they enter a war. Not right.

We should boycott everything French. What happened to the Freedom Fries???? People abandoned that idea quickly. French are ungrateful, and VERY much snobby. I just don't get them though, we liberate the Germans out of their fucking country and then when we're trying to liberate another country in just as much need as them, they are against us. Selective memory, I bet they only teach the Napoleonic Wars up until they lost. :rolleyes:. My grandfather and late great-grandfather both fought in WWII, luckily they weren't killed.

France can disappear and I could care less. ONLY successful thing they did was manage to survive throughout the centuries. What an accomplishment!!!

i said they're snobby. that's not racism...stereotypical...but not racism. maybe it wasn't the right thing to say. i meant they are snobby because they can't appreciate all of the allied dead (British and American) that were trying to liberate them from the Germans in WWI and II.

Oh...and many of your posts from a year ago have led me to believe that you're no more worthy then that of my dog's shit. I do have to say though...I don't find that opinion still true today...but then again...I don't remember your past posts.

The US has been to "Easy" on the Arab world. Sure we bombed them here and there, but those were more like a jab and not a full-blown punch. This is the first time the US has gone in swinging full force. The first war doesn't count. Now that the Arab world sees that we will react with full force, two things can happen.

1. The Arab world unites and takes on the US in an all out war.
2. The Arab world sees legitimacy in the US' position in the Arab world.

The first one can happen if the US doesn't take a firm stance against Israel and it's inhumane treatment to the Palestinians. Palestine NEEDS to exist for order to come in the Middle East.

Israel may be the Promised Land for the Jews, but remember, the Promised Land is IN Palestine. Meaning Palestine deserves to exist. In 1948 Israel refused to let that happen. Thus the reason we are having the problems we have now. I am not an Anti-Semite; I am against the way the Israelis there treat non-Jews. I have been there. Even if you're an American you get treated VERY different, almost to the point of rude (Unless you have a lot of money). That needs to change for peace to come.

And the "Freedom Fries" and "Fried Texas Toast" actually started in 1980's when France refused to let the US use it's airspace to bomb Algeria.

You cant justify things we do today by what we did during WWII...back then we also put the Japanese in detention camps...forcing them to leave their family and lives and live in basically a prison. Granted...we haven't done that...and I dont think we ever will again...but everything has changed since 1945...the invention of nuclear weapons and weapons of mass destruction changed warfare...and we have to think of the consequences more.

Denouncing France as your allies is not the way to handle things. obviously some of the French are completely against America at this point...although I doubt it's even 3% of the population. They see people on the news saying we should nuke them because they dont want to go to war...what do you expect to happen?

Let's face it they don't have a fucking clue what goes outside their dumbass country. They're just afraid to go to war because they know they'd get their ass kicked...as usual. I can imagine Iraq invading France and France would still be on their side.
