Anyone know of any good video compression software? I'm asking because I'm recording samples of Renegade gameplay for a video I've been working on. The problem is that the best compression I have available brings a filesize to about 10 seconds for every 2 mb (which is insanely high).

I know a good video would be about 2-3 mb per minute but I can't seem to find good software for this. Any ideas?

Just burn your movie on to a DVD, which uses MP4 compression. 2-3 hours or so in 5 GB.

I use Vegas Video by Sonic Foundry for both editing and compressing. Vegas uses any available codecs it can find on your comp, so if you have divx, you can export to it, or wmv, etc...
