Darkblade went ahead and overhauled the previous texture. This one is much better, in my personal opinion.

Yeah, they would look better if you shared one of your E3 models for info how to implement proper vehicle lights.

If you'd only hold up your end of the bargain by making your mod somewhat presentable, beyond gimmicks..

Excellent, the old version of the texture looked to plain, although I see a misalignment with the camo on the side.

the tail lights look like they were made too small, then blown up.
Anyway...you need to work on making it seamless:

Looks nice except for the texture on the side (like posted earlier) and the pipes on the side of the turret. Because the vehicle is dark and black and the barrel is dark and rusty, you may want to consider making the pipes a darker texture that way it matches and looks more appealing.
