If you allready have 1.33 installed all you need to do is extract the brenbot.exe and overwrite the older one.

Does anyone still find their IRC laggy?

My bot still does not recognize a command for at least 15 seconds before it actually realizes it's there...

Also the lag script is nice but not when the person has lag in their name. Everytime they talk it posts up the ping. I was wondering if it was possible to ignore their name or not ? It sure would cut down on server msgs when those ppl are ingame talking.

Maybe a stupid question, but has brenbot 1.34, renguard version 1.01 included or do i have to install that version (or the newest) manually??

Good question actually.

Does the RenGuard which is integrated with BRenBot 1.34 auto-update itself like the Client does?
Or do i have to download the patches manually from the BRenBot site or from RenGuard.com?
